

I am sorry, the way this world works I don't believe you should screen emails as much as I believe one shouldnt tap phone lines. One may say, oh general screening is fine, but what if I send correspondance to someone that is "obscene" in nature, but not a threat, you can't trust those who are doing the screening. It's a sick venture, and I don't approve of it